What are these manuals for?

This series of manuals has been designed to help school governing bodies in their task of overseeing the governance of schools. The manuals give an overview of the main issues that all school governing bodies need to understand and put into practice in order to be effective.

The manuals are an accessible training and reference guide for governing bodies. They explain the key requirements of National and Provincial legislation, and some of the practicalities of putting them into practice.

These manuals replace earlier manuals produced by the KwaZulu-Natal Department of Education and Culture soon after the South African Schools Act of 1996 required all public schools to form governing bodies.

The Manuals

Each manual deals with specific issues in school governance.

- Manual 1: Introduction to School Governance
- Manual 2: School Governing Body Elections
- Manual 3: Conducting Meetings and Keeping Records
- Manual 4: School Fund: Departmental Regulations
- Manual 5: Basic Financial Systems for Schools (training manual)
- Manual 6: Discipline and Codes of Conduct for Learners
- Manual 7: The School as Employer

Manual 4: School Fund: Departmental Regulations

This manual deals with the important issue of school finances. It gives a brief overview of the system of school fund control in public schools in KwaZulu-Natal and provides straightforward answers to some frequently asked questions about school finances.

The important issue of funding norms and standards is then outlined, followed by the actual instructions and regulations governing school fund operations.

Finally there are several short exercises to help readers reinforce their knowledge of this important aspect of school governance.

This manual should be studied in conjunction with manual 5, which contains further information as well as practical exercises.
How to use this manual

As a reference tool

The manuals are designed to be an accessible reference for members of governing bodies. They have been written and designed so that ordinary citizens playing a role in school governance can have their questions answered in a way that is easy to understand, and is applicable to their own situations.

Wherever possible, the approach that has been used features:

- non-technical language
- a ‘frequently asked questions’ approach
- brief and straightforward answers
- references throughout the text to legislation which applies to particular issues
- additional information and examples that will assist you to apply the information
- exercises which can be used by individuals or governing bodies to help consolidate information
- formats and templates to help in carrying out various tasks
- a comprehensive index.

The approach in these manuals is specifically designed to help with immediate queries and to allow members to become familiar with governing body issues. For technical and legal matters it is essential that the manuals be read in conjunction with the relevant legislation, most of which can be found in the two volumes making up the ‘Operations manual for KwaZulu-Natal schools’ which is available in all schools.

As a training tool

The exercises at the back of this manual are designed to be used for training of new governing bodies and new members of governing bodies. Members can work through the exercises on their own, or as a group. Even members of governing bodies who are familiar with the information may find the exercises useful. Many of them are based on case study examples or areas where there is often confusion or difficulty with putting the legislation and regulations into practice.
How is this manual designed?

This manual is designed in the same way as this page. A question which is often asked by members of school governing bodies is given. The question is answered directly below it. The answers are as brief and direct as possible. They usually explain what is required by law in a way that is easier to understand than the legislation itself.

Where there is information that is regulated by legislation, you will see a box like this.

This box will tell you where to find more information in another manual or part of this manual.

This box will give examples.

This box will give you the definition or meaning of a word or concept.

The information in this box is an exception to the rule or a special case.

If there is more detailed information about how to do something it will be in a ‘how to’ box.

The information in this box is something that you should take particular note of.
1.1 Why do we need a uniform financial system in all public schools?

A school requires considerable amounts of money to function. There are development costs of building and equipping the school, as well as the recurrent costs of keeping it operating. These recurrent costs are things like maintenance and repairs in addition to salary, textbooks and stationery.

In the vast majority of public schools the State meets most of these costs.

The inequities of the past have resulted in a massive backlog in terms of facilities and equipment in most of the schools. Despite the fact that the level of deprivation of a school determines the apportionment of State funds and the most deprived schools receive a relatively greater subsidy, the State has not been able to provide all the money needed to satisfy parental aspirations for their children’s schools. Parents themselves are making greater financial contributions to schooling to fill this gap.

There are, therefore, two major sources of funds for the school:

- The State and
- The parents.

Both need to know that the money is being wisely spent and properly accounted for. The State is accountable to the taxpayers, who must be sure that their money is being properly used. In order for the State to account for expenditure there needs to be a manageable, standardised system used to record all transactions in all public schools in KwaZulu-Natal.

This also benefits the parents in each school, because the system required by the State is simple enough to be used by non-expert personnel, and can be understood and checked even by people with limited experience and skills in financial systems.

Some schools are switching to computerised systems of record-keeping for their learner records, financial transactions, stock-keeping and library controls. The possibilities inherent in electronic banking are also being explored.

Schools wishing to do this are advised to contact the Department before proceeding. The Department will require assurance that the proposed systems meet criteria and that there are adequate safeguards and backup in the event of a systems crash.
1.2 What is the basis of our financial system?

All schools should use a financial system based on:

- the norms and minimum standards for the funding of public schools; and
- the regulations that govern the establishment and control of School Funds at public schools.

SASA makes it clear that the State is required to fund public schools on an equitable basis to ensure the rights of learners to education. The Minister is required by SASA to determine norms and minimum standards for the funding of public schools. These must then be applied in every public school.

In addition, governing bodies of public schools are required by SASA to supplement the resources supplied by the State. A governing body of a public school must establish a school fund and administer it in accordance with directions issued by a Head of Department. This is reiterated by the KZN Schools Education Act No. 3 of 1996 Section 72(1)(b) and P.G. No. R.47, 1998.

The system has been designed so that people such as ordinary educators, even if they have no financial training, can learn it and apply it. Schools do not need to employ specialist bookkeepers to maintain their financial records. In many schools a particular educator undertakes the task; in some schools (particularly one-educator schools) the principal does it. Some schools have clerks who do the work. The person delegated to do the work is called the Finance Officer of the school.
1.3 Who is responsible for financial management in schools?

The ultimate responsibility for the accuracy of the books lies with the principal, even if he or she does not have the task of maintaining the books on a regular basis. He or she is required by the regulations to make numerous and frequent checks.

Although the principal is ultimately responsible for the accuracy of the books, the management of the school’s finances is a primary function of the school governing body, usually through its Finance Committee. The chairperson of the school governing body should therefore be completely familiar with the state of the school’s finances, as of course should the treasurer.

The governing body should see itself as being in partnership with the Department of Education and Culture (DEC) in the extremely responsible task of managing the school’s finances.

Because the principal is ultimately accountable for the accuracy of the records, he or she can be termed the ‘Accounting Officer’.

1.4 What does the system involve?

The finances of a public school revolve around a primary system called the school fund. All of the money that comes into a school must be paid into the school fund, and all the money that is paid out by the school must come from the school fund. In order to do this the school must open a current bank account at a commercial bank.

In addition to the School Fund account, a school may open a savings or fixed deposit account in which to deposit surplus funds. Note that this is the only form of investment permitted unless written permission for any other sort of investment has been granted by the Head of Department.

All the records of the financial transactions of the school are kept in a set of books collectively called the School Fund Financial Records. Some schools may not need to use all the books, depending on the system operating in that school. For example, not all schools have a petty cash system, or a bursary fund. Most of the books listed on the next pages must be used in all public schools, from the smallest to the most complex.
1.5 What School Fund Financial Records do we have to keep?

All schools will have to use a primary cash book (in this system it is divided into two; the receipts cash book and the payments cash book) plus several other supporting books.

Here is a list of books you may need to keep as part of the School Fund Financial Records:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Book Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Receipts Cash Book</td>
<td>To record all the money received by the school, as extracted from the source document, which is the finance officer's receipt book containing all the duplicate receipts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Payments Cash Book</td>
<td>To record all the payments made by the school. The source document is the cheque book counterfoil.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Distribution Register</td>
<td>The principal keeps and maintains a book (the distribution register) in which the whereabouts of all receipt books are recorded. It is an important book for keeping track of who is receiving money on behalf of the school. All stock of unused receipt books is also entered in this register.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Receipt Book</td>
<td>This is a book of receipt forms. Every time the school receives money it is acknowledged by the issuing of a receipt for the amount received. There may be several receipt books operating in the school at the same time, because each class educator may be issued with a receipt book for the collection of monies such as school fees. This money should be collected on a daily basis. When a class educator hands in the money to the school's financial officer, the financial officer must issue a receipt for that money. The amount of that receipt must equal the amount collected and receipted by the class educator that day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. School Fund Register</td>
<td>This is actually a part of each class educator's Class Attendance Register. When the class educator receipts money received from a learner, he or she also records in the Register all the particulars of the receipt issued to that learner. This serves as an extra check or safeguard.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. School Fund Remittance Register</td>
<td>This is a book in which is recorded all the ‘remittances’ (money) delivered to the school or received through the post. Remittances are not often in cash; they are usually cheques or postal orders. The opening of all post and the receiving by hand of remittances must be done in the presence of another person, and only by a person authorised to do so. That person must enter all the details in the Remittance Register.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Bank Deposit Book</td>
<td>This is a book of deposit forms. Every time the school deposits money in the bank, a deposit form is completed.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
8. Direct Deposit Register

The officer responsible for keeping the cash books must keep a register in which is entered all the details arising from each deposit made directly into the School Fund Current Account. These deposits are, for example, made by parents paying their fees directly into the account.

9. Petty Cash Book

‘Petty’ means ‘small’. If the governing body has authorised the principal to keep a certain small amount of cash on hand for educational payments of a minor nature, the details of all transactions, (both receipts and payments,) involving that petty cash must be recorded in the Petty Cash Book.

10. Telephone/ Facsimile Register

This is a register of all telephone calls made and faxes (facsimiles) sent.

11. Postal Services Register

This is a register of all postage stamps purchased, and all outgoing mail. If the school has a franking machine, the same instructions apply.

12. Stock Register

This is a register of all non-consumable items (expendable and inventory) purchased from school funds, donated to the school or purchased from funds donated to the school. The register must clearly indicate the source from which the items were acquired. There must be an annual stock-take. A separate stock register is used for State items.

13. Consumable items; Tally Cards

All the details of consumable stock must be entered on the respective tally cards. The principal is required to conduct random checks of consumable stocks to ensure that they match the tally cards.

14. Fund for special purposes

The school might administer a fund for a special purpose such as the awarding of annual bursaries. If this is the case the fund must be administered according to directions issued by the Head of Department. This will include accurate records.

15. Commitment Register

These are sent by the Department to all non-section 21 schools. The approved allocation for the school and other relevant criteria are pre-printed on the register by the Department. Schools are required to keep a running total on the register by deducting from the available balance, the cost of all accounts/commitments sent to the Department for payment. The register is submitted to schools on an annual basis and forms part of the auditing process.

16. Wages Register

The wages register is a record of the gross remuneration paid to each governing body employee, plus the employees’ tax and any other amounts deducted; for example UIF, medical aid etc.

17. Stock on loan Register

This is a register of school stock lent to individuals or other institutions.

18. Register of collection sheets

This is a register in which is recorded, usually in numerical order, all the collection sheets issued during a fund-raising exercise.

Detailed information about many of these books can be found in Section 7.
1.6 Where does the school get the school fund books, such as the receipt book and cash books?

Generally they must be purchased out of school funds. The bank deposit book will be obtained from the bank. Some of the forms and formats needed are reproduced in manual 5 and can be duplicated or photocopied directly. Smaller schools may have to use this method for the cash books (also referred to as analysis books), but generally schools should safeguard themselves by using properly bound books with consecutively numbered pages for this important record. They can be obtained from a stationery shop and are available in 16/24/32/48 columns. Schools can purchase books that suit their requirements.

Receipt books can be printed by a local printer. All details of the school as approved by the school governing body will be printed on the receipts. The printing of own receipt books has many advantages such as:

- the name of the school will be printed and therefore a rubber stamp imprint is not necessary;
- the principal and the school governing body will have total control of the serial numbers printed which will help prevent duplication and fraud;
- finance officers’ receipt books can be identified if different coloured paper is used.
School fees are a large part of the money that comes into the school fund. They are used to finance part of the school’s operating expenses. In the third quarter of every year the finance committee of the governing body is required to draw up a draft budget for the year to come. The budget gives details of the sources of the school fund and how the money will be spent. It is both compulsory and important for the budget to be presented to parents for approval, so that they are part of deciding what the school fees will be used for.

Members of governing bodies often ask the questions that follow about school fees. The instructions and regulations give detailed information about these issues. These answers are more straightforward explanations. For more information, you should read the relevant sub-sections in Section 7. Reference numbers of these sub-sections are provided in the right hand column.

2.1 How do we decide if fees are compulsory and how much to pay?

All schools should have a school fees policy that deals with school fees, discounts and exemptions. This could be a standing policy, to be reviewed each year.

During the fourth quarter of every year the governing body must convene a meeting of parents. At this meeting, (which is often combined into the Annual General Meeting) the following must be dealt with:

- The proposed budget for the coming year.
- The amount of school fees needed from each learner.
- The criteria for total, partial or conditional exemptions from fee payment.

The governing body presents its budget for the following year, and it might recommend proposed fees, but the parents have the final say. Decisions regarding the approval of the budget, school fees to be charged and exemptions from fee payment must be taken by the parents present and voting. They pass resolutions concerning each item.

If a majority of parents present and voting at the meeting has determined that school fees must be paid, and the amount has been agreed, those fees become enforceable by law.
Section 2: School Fees

2.2 Are there exemptions from fee payment for parents who are unemployed or earn very little?

There are strict regulations governing payment, partial payment or exemption from paying school fees. Those who are unemployed or earning only small amounts may be exempt or partially exempt from paying fees. However, they will have to produce proof that their income is limited.

A school can decide on its own 'exemption from fees' policy. The conditions in this policy may be more generous than those in the State policy, but they cannot be more severe than the conditions outlined by the State.

The norms and standards for funding of public schools contain some guidelines about school fee exemptions. The norms recognise the fact that the amount of money that comes in from school fees is determined both by how much the fee is and by the number of people paying the fee. The recommended exemptions are therefore designed to assist parent bodies to make suitable and fair decisions regarding fee levels that are charged and the fee exemption thresholds.

The norms identify four categories of exemptions:

- Full exemption
  - If the combined annual gross income of the parents is less than 10 times the annual school fees per learner.

- Partial exemption
  - If the combined annual gross income of the parents is less than 30 times but more than 10 times the annual school fees per learner.

- No exemption
  - If the combined annual gross income of the parents is more than 30 times the annual school fees per learner.

- Conditional exemption
  - Special circumstances affecting the parent’s ability to pay the fee, or the need to acquire relevant information about a parent’s circumstances may result in conditional exemption being awarded.

See SASA Sections 39(4) and 61, and G.N. No. 1293 dated 12 October 1998.

If a learner’s mother has an annual income of R3 000, and her father has an annual income of R2 000 (R5 000 combined), and the annual school fees are R200, the parents will qualify for a partial exemption.

See P.N. No. 47, 1998 Regulation 4(4), (5), and (6).

A governing body may deviate from the categories of full, partial or no exemption if the parent can prove facts which justify the deviation. For example, a governing body may decide to grant a conditional exemption to a parent who has an annual income of more than 30 times the school fees, if the parent proves that she is the sole breadwinner supporting 10 children.
2.3 What if parents won't pay?

If parents can afford to pay school fees, but refuse to, the school may, through the process of law, enforce the payment. This would be the last resort, after all attempts at persuasion have failed.

All schools should have a 'School Fees Policy' that deals with issues such as discounts and exemptions. Parents should be familiar with this policy.

2.4 Can parents be offered discounts for any reason?

Some schools offer discounts to parents who have more than one child at the school, or who pay by a certain date.

The structure of the school fees is determined by the parents, at the meeting where decisions about school fees are made. At that meeting the parents can decide if any discounts will be offered, in what circumstances and by how much the fee should be discounted.

Some schools offer discounts for the children of staff members. If this is the case parents/governing bodies must be aware that the South African Revenue Services may view some perks/discounts/incentive schemes as taxable, and should check their schemes with the SARS.

2.5 After parents have paid the fees, can the school ask for more money—for example, for excursions, or for a particular learning area?

Yes, it does happen that there are sometimes additional requests for money during the course of the year. This often happens if a particular group of learners wants to do something that was not catered for in the budget.

Also, sometimes the governing body does not want the whole school to have to subsidise an excursion (or something similar) being undertaken by a particular class, grade or group.

The parents should be given as much notice as possible of these additional costs.
2.6 Can the school refuse to admit, or re-admit, a child if the parents have not been able to pay the school fee?

The school cannot refuse to admit a child whose parents are not able to pay the school fee, nor may a learner be denied re-admission because his or her parents have been unable to pay the fee. In fact a school is not permitted to discriminate in any way against a learner whose parents are unable to pay the fee. Even if there is a dispute with parents over fees, the learner may not be discriminated against.

2.7 Can we charge a non-refundable administration/processing fee when parents first apply for their child’s admission?

A school can choose to charge a registration fee as long as this has been approved by parents at the general meeting where school fees are discussed. If such a fee is charged it should be adequately publicised beforehand and fully reflected in the budget. Note that a learner whose parents are unable to pay the fee may NOT be refused admission.

2.8 How should parents pay the school fee?

This will depend on the school fees policy agreed upon by the parents.

The most common way is for school fees to be paid in cash. The governing body, acting through the principal, can decide whether or not to accept other forms of payment such as private cheques, postal orders and money orders.

Any money that is received at the school must be acknowledged immediately by the issuing of an official receipt.

If the parents agree to it and the bank is prepared to accept them, fees may be deposited directly into the School Fund Current Account. The depositor must ensure that adequate proof of the deposit is available for the school’s inspection. They should get a stamped duplicate of the deposit slip from the bank, for handing in at the school.
3.1 What sort of planning goes into the spending of the money?

Money is scarce and the needs and desires of the school community are virtually unlimited, thus proper planning is essential. This usually involves some difficult decision-making on priorities. The governing body, through its finance committee, draws up a budget in the third quarter of every year. It does this after receiving inputs from all stakeholders as to what should be included in the draft estimates. This budget lists all the anticipated income and expenditure for the coming year. Drawing up a budget is a complex task, as details of all the anticipated income must be listed, as well as all the details of anticipated expenditure. Very often the previous year’s budget serves as a guide, but there are always additions and subtractions from the lists, as some projects finish and others begin.

Whilst drawing up the budget the governing body will also be giving attention to recommendations for the amount of the school fees to be levied in the following year.

3.2 Do parents have any say in the use of the funds?

The proposed budget must be presented at a general meeting of parents. Parents must have an opportunity to comment at the meeting, and decide on the proposed use of school fund money.

At this meeting the audited annual financial statements for the previous year are also discussed. This not only ensures transparency but gives parents a yardstick and point of comparison when they consider the budget for the following year.
3.3 How does the school account for the funds spent?

The finance committee is the watchdog concerning the financial affairs of the school.

There are several records of expenditure by the school.

- All financial transactions are recorded in the Accounting Records.
- All payments from the school fund (except for petty cash) must be made by cheque, and these payments can only be made by prior arrangement with the Finance Committee. Furthermore, all payments made from the school fund current account have to be presented to the governing body for ratification at its next meeting.
- A payment advice must be completed before a cheque is issued.
- Payments must be supported by a relevant document (voucher) such as an original cash register slip or an original tax invoice.

The financial records may be inspected at any time by parents, an official of the Department, a governing body member or any other officer authorised to do so by the Minister.

3.4 Can the school invest school fund money in any investment account?

The governing body may only deposit surplus funds in the name of the school in a savings or fixed deposit account with a registered financial institution or a post office savings bank. Permission from the Head of Department must be sought, in writing, for any other form of investment.

Every year an audited Statement of Investments must be sent to the Head of Department.

3.5 For how long must the school keep its financial records?

All accounting records must be safely stored for a period of seven years. After the expiry of this period they must be destroyed and a destruction certificate issued in accordance with instructions.
3.6 Is a person formally appointed to work with the school's financial and accounting records?

An officer must be appointed in writing by the principal, in consultation with the governing body, to be responsible for the financial and accounting records of the school. The actual duties to be performed by this officer must be specified.

The person appointed must be completely familiar with all the Statutory Provisions, Regulations and Departmental Instructions relating to the tasks, and must be aware that any irregularities may have serious consequences.

Where can people receive training to do the books properly?
From time to time the Department provides training, which may be on a Regional basis.

3.7 How often should the books be checked?

The principal or a responsible officer appointed in writing by the principal must carry out checks of all monies and associated records, at the intervals specified in the instructions.

Proof of these checks is in the form of dated signatures of the responsible officer on the documents.

The principal is normally the officer responsible for the checking of the financial records unless the principal actually keeps the cash books him/herself. Note that the school's superintendent of education (management) has to ensure that accounting procedures and instructions are being complied with. (See annexure to circular 8 of 2000).

In addition, the Finance Committee is also tasked with performing internal checks.

If at any time an appointed financial officer is changed, there should be a detailed check at the time of the change.

An auditor appointed by the governing body must audit the records and financial statements of the school fund annually.
3.8 What if it is very difficult to bank all money received straight away?

Where possible all money received on a particular day must be banked on that day. If this cannot happen then the money must be banked on the next official working day. In the meantime, every effort must be made to safeguard the money.

3.9 Can educators be paid for extra duties or travel expenses?

Extra duties

As far as governing body-paid educators are concerned, the terms of their contract should specify such detail.

Educators in State employment may not be paid extra for performing duties that are part of their job description. However, it has become practice in some schools to reward educators for performing extra duties.

Governing bodies that do this must:

- be aware of all the implications of contracts and formal employment practice, including the employee tax implications.
- inform the Department of the details.

Travel expenses

If a person uses his or her private vehicle on the school’s behalf, the actual expenditure incurred may be met from school funds, provided that it is approved school policy to do so. Rates per kilometre travelled should be similar to State rates and there should be a system in place that ensures prior approval of the trip. Educators are advised to check with their car insurance companies before using their cars for such purposes. The school too should be aware that there are insurance implications involved in the transport of learners in private vehicles, and should seek expert advice.
3.10 Can the school premises be used to generate income?

The governing body is required to raise additional funds for the school. It can do this in various ways such as encouraging voluntary contributions and holding fund-raising activities such as fetes and concerts. It is also permitted to derive income from all the assets of the school, so, provided that precautions are in place to prevent damage, and there is no interference with the educational function of the school, a governing body may rent out part of the premises. It is wise to complete proper legal agreements in such cases.

3.11 Can the governing body trade in the school's assets?

Non-section 21 schools

The school owns all assets acquired with school funds. The school fund consists of parent contributions, donations and subsidies paid by the Department.

Assets allocated to a school by the Department are owned by the Department. The school cares for these assets but they remain the property of the State. Thus the school can trade in its own assets in a similar fashion to that detailed below for section 21 schools, but it must deal with State stock in the manner outlined in the Instructions. (See number 7 of Section 7).

It is important that the school differentiates clearly between those items purchased from school funds, donated to the school or purchased with funds donated to the school, and items allocated to the school by the State.

This record may take the form of an appropriate column in the stock register and/or suitable marking of the stock itself.

Section 21 schools

A section 21 school owns all assets acquired with school funds. If a school is allocated powers in terms of section 21 (1) (a), ownership of State assets at the school is transferred to the school subject to the following provisos:

i) The school must submit financial statements.

ii) The school must prepare an inventory of the assets

iii) The Department must verify the inventory.
iv) The chairperson of the governing body must issue a receipt for the assets.

v) The school may not dispose of the assets without value unless the Head of Department consents thereto.

vi) Upon the closure of the school ownership reverts to the State.

These provisos mean that the school must differentiate clearly between those items acquired from the State, and items purchased from school funds, donated to the school or purchased with funds donated to the school. This differentiation could, for example, take the form of a suitable column in the stock register and/or suitable marking of the stock itself.

If all the provisos have been met the school can trade in the school's assets.
4 DEPARTMENTAL CONTRIBUTIONS AND CONTROL

Departmental funding is the funding received from the Department of Education and Culture. It is not to be confused with the school’s other sources of funds, such as fees. These are two separate sources which both contribute to the overall financing of a school.

4.1 How does the Department contribute to the running of the school?

The State, through the Department of Education and Culture makes a massive contribution to the running of all public schools. The major part of this (up to 90%) is in the form of staff salaries.

The form of further contributions depends on whether the public school is classified as a ‘non-section 21’ or a ‘section 21’ school.

4.2 What is a ‘section 21’ school?

Section 20 of the South African Schools Act sets out certain functions that must be performed by all public schools, but in Section 21 provision is made for school governing bodies to take responsibility for additional management functions. This includes becoming progressively more responsible for managing aspects of recurrent expenditure.

The ‘section 21’ functions include:

- to maintain and improve the school’s property, buildings, grounds, and hostel;
- determine the extra-mural curriculum and the choice of subject options in terms of provincial curriculum policy;
- purchase text books, educational materials or equipment for the school;
- pay for services to the school; or
- other functions consistent with the Act or applicable provincial legislation.

Schools that feel they have the ability and capacity to self-manage these aspects of their school may make application for the transfer of these management functions to the school.
4.3 What are the advantages of being assigned Section 21 status?

Schools that qualify for 'section 21' status will receive a direct transfer of money, calculated in terms of the Resource Targeting List, to assist with the payment of the school's recurrent costs. These schools may then deal directly with suppliers and contractors for the relevant budgeted items in accordance with standard procurement procedures. Section 21 schools will be held accountable for the transfer payment made to the school.

It is not the section 20 or 21 status of a school that determines its allocation. A schools' position in the resource target list determines the amount.

4.4 What about ‘non-section 21’ schools?

Schools that presently do not qualify for ‘section 21’ status, will still receive an allocation, in terms of the Resource Targeting List, but this will be a 'paper' allocation. Non-section 21 schools are required to present a budget to the department, and purchases will be made against the budgeted items. The provincial department will procure goods and services on their behalf according to existing departmental arrangements. The department will maintain a school-based commitment register, and all schools are required to manage their requests for purchases and payments against the submitted budgets.

4.5 How are schools informed of their allocations?

Schools receive a letter from their Regional Offices that informs them of the sum of money that will be allocated to them to contribute towards the school’s recurrent cost expenditure. In terms of the norms, schools are to be informed of the allocation by 30 September each year.

4.6 What is the money that schools are allocated to be spent on?

The allocations made to schools in terms of the norms are to assist with the recurrent costs of schools.
The norms indicate that the following cost categories are considered to be recurrent costs:

- Immovable capital improvement and repairs. However, routine maintenance and cleanliness, that is functions such as cleaning, removing litter, maintaining grounds, minor painting and repairs and replacement of light bulbs will be the responsibility of the school community.
- Easily separable recurrent costs.
- Small capital equipment costs. This includes learning support material, books and stationery.

An advisory list that prioritises the types of expenditure that should be committed to the allocation, is available from the Department.

All schools receiving an allocation in terms of the National Norms and Standards for School Funding should give preference to their contractual obligations and learner needs when prioritising their spending.

4.7 How do we budget for the allocation?

Section 21 schools have the allocation paid directly into their bank accounts, so the provincial allocation becomes an item in the school fund account. When the budget is drawn up this allocation is included in the expected income. The Department does not specify how the money must be spent, but the overall expenditure from the school fund must obviously be in terms of the budget and educationally based.

Non-section 21 schools are also required to include the allocation in their budgeting even though they do not receive the allocation in cash.
4.8 Does the Department check the books?

The Department relies on the annual audit and checks by the Superintendent. The audit must be undertaken by a registered auditor or, if that is not possible, by a person qualified to act as an accounting officer.

The governing body must submit a copy of the annual financial statements to the Head of Department within six months of the end of each financial year.

The MEC or Head of Department may at any time call for a special report on the administration of the school funds, or appoint an officer to investigate and report on the administration of the school fund.

CONTRACTS AND DEFAULTS

5.1 Can the school enter into contracts?

A governing body may enter into contracts on behalf of the school.

Note, however, that:

- if there are minor learner representatives on the governing body, they are excluded from this process.
- the Department must be kept fully informed of these transactions.
- the principal must be advised in writing by the governing body before entering into such agreements.

Examples of contracts entered into by governing bodies include contracts for painting the school, or supplying books, or repairing school property, or employing an additional educator. A school may also contract out certain functions such as the operation of its tuckshop.

5.2 What if the school defaults on a contract item?

If the school enters into a contract fully aware that it is unlikely to be able to meet the financial obligations, there may be serious legal consequences for the school governing body. Moreover, if the Department is forced to intervene financially it may have to take any outlay into consideration in subsequent allocations to the school.

Payments for services such as electricity and water

Since part of the monetary allocation, whether for a non-section 21 or a section 21 school, should be used to pay for such services, the Department must be kept well-informed of any problems the school may encounter in meeting the payments.

However, it is up to the governing body in the first instance to negotiate directly with the supplier of the service. Only if all avenues of negotiation have been exhausted should the Department's intervention be sought.

See section 7:6.21.

The Head of Department must be informed of all hire purchase agreements entered into by the school governing body. See section 7:6.21.
6.1 When did the norms come into effect?

These norms became national policy on 1 April 1999 and for schools came into effect in January 2000. The KwaZulu-Natal Department of Education and Culture implemented the National Norms and Standards in January 2000.

6.2 What areas are covered by the Norms and Standards policy?

The policy sets out national norms and minimum standards for school funding in terms of the South African Schools Act. It also deals with procedures to be adopted by provincial education departments in determining resource allocation to their schools.

The Norms and Standards deal with three aspects:
1. The public funding of public schools.
2. The exemption of parents who are unable to pay school fees.
3. Public subsidies to independent schools.

6.3 What areas are not covered by the Norms and Standards policy?

The norms and standards apply only to school-level expenditure at ordinary schools.

- Personnel expenditure for ordinary schools is excluded from the Norms.
- The provincial education department school-related administrative and developmental expenditure is also excluded.
- All schools for special learners (LSEN) are excluded from the norms and standards outlined in the document.
6.4 What are the basic principles of the norms and standards?

The basic principles of state funding of public schools derive from the constitutional guarantee of equality and recognition of the right of redress. The South African Schools Act (section 34(1)) provides that > 'the State must fund public schools from public revenue on an equitable basis in order to ensure the proper exercise of the rights of learners to education and the redress of past inequalities in educational provision'.

The norms state that it is a matter of urgent priority to effect redress and equity in school funding, with a view to progressively improving the quality of school education. This should take place within a framework of greater efficiency in organising and providing education services.

These principles underlie the National Norms and Standards for School Funding and prepare the way for the allocation of resources and expenditure by specifically targeting the needs of the poorest. The need for redress and improving equity requires all provincial departments to undertake considerable budget and financial analysis and to use information with great care.

6.5 In public funding of public schools, what cost allocation categories are there?

The norms identify two cost allocation categories, namely capital costs and recurrent costs.

Capital Costs

Capital cost allocations include costs related to new classroom and other constructions and include provision for water, electricity, sewerage and telephone services on site and connections to main services where these are provided to the school site.

Provincial education departments are required to do an analysis to estimate what is needed to get infrastructure development up to speed, and provide sufficient school places by a given target year.
New schools or additional classrooms and learning facilities should be provided to the neediest population, where ‘need’ is defined in terms of the lack of current schools or overcrowding of existing ones. In the allocation of funds for new school construction, preference must be given to schools serving education grades 1 - 9 and also to extensions, where practical, to existing schools, rather than building new schools.

Recurrent Costs

Recurrent cost allocations include expenses such as immovable capital improvement and repair costs; small capital equipment costs (including the provision of school stationery and learning resource materials); and easily separable recurrent costs (including expenses related to supplies and service costs). Allocations for these recurrent cost items must be targeted as far as possible on the basis of need, determined according to the condition of the school and relative poverty of the school community. The diagram below illustrates that 60% of the budget should be targeted at the poorest 40% of learners.
6.6 How do we determine who the poorest learners are?

The norms indicate that provincial education departments are required to develop a ‘Resource Targeting List’. The Resource Targeting List requires that all ordinary public schools be sorted by a ‘poverty’ ranking. Two equally weighted factors are used to determine a school’s poverty ranking. These factors are the physical condition, facilities and crowding of the school and the relative poverty of the community.

The box below indicates the criteria the KwaZulu-Natal Department of Education and Culture used to rank their schools in terms of the Resource Targeting List.

The criteria used by the KwaZulu-Natal Department of Education and Culture to rank their schools

- Average years of education of community members
- Dependency Ratio
- Per Capita Income
- Road Access
- Number of Learners to a Classroom
- Power supply at school
- Water supply at school
- Building condition of school

The ranked list of all ordinary schools then leads to equal scoring schools being assigned to a group. The KwaZulu-Natal Department of Education and Culture has divided schools in the province into ten groups, referred to as deciles. Allocations are made on a variable per-learner basis that favours the poorer segments of the population. The neediest schools will get priority funding in the form of a higher per learner allocation.
6.7 Where can I find out more about the norms and standards?

Each of the education Regional Offices has established a regional School Funding Norms Committee and there is also a central School Funding Norms Committee. These committees can be approached for advice, guidance or clarity.

6.5.7 Loss of original of cancelled or duplicated receipt
i) Where the original of a cancelled or duplicated receipt cannot be traced, found or recovered, the loss must be reported immediately to the Finance Committee with a request that authority be granted to dispense with the production of the lost original.

This request must include the following information:
a) A full explanation of how the loss occurred.

15.4 The procedure to be adopted is as follows:
   i) The principal must allocate a receipt book to the Chairperson of the Committee referred to in 15.2 and the Distribution Register must be completed accordingly. This receipt book must be used solely for the purposes of receipting monies received from the sale of such items. Individual receipts are to be issued.

   ii) Receipts issued by the responsible person must be totalled daily and the monies must be handed over to the officer entrusted with the receipting of school fund monies. A receipt will be issued for the total amount handed over and this receipt must be affixed onto the reverse of the last receipt issued by the responsible person referred to above.

   iii) On receipt of these items, a member of the Committee must check the goods received against the invoice to ensure the correctness thereof and his/her signature must be appended onto the original invoice to indicate that this check was conducted.

   iv) The Committee must create a register to keep records of the stock acquired, stock sold and the stock available on hand.

   v) At least once every month, the Committee must reconcile the stock-on-hand with the stock acquired and the stock sold. Cognisance should be taken of any opening stock (stock-on-hand) prior to purchases made during the month.

   vi) The officer entrusted with the financial records of the school must check the register and verify the stock-on-hand at least once every month.

   vii) A Trading Statement/Account pertaining to these items including the value of opening stock as well as closing stock must be prepared quarterly by the officer entrusted with the financial records of the school and the statement/account must be forwarded to the Financial Committee to be tabled at its next meeting.

16. Transport for school education purposes

16.1 It may be necessary, at times, for persons to use their private vehicles on behalf of the school for educational purposes. This could happen, for instance, where an educator is required to transport learners to an athletics meeting to be held at a venue away from the school.

16.2 In such instances, the actual expenditure incurred in respect of transport may be met from school funds.

16.3 Before the journey is undertaken, a ‘Claim for Transport’ form must be completed giving the reasons for undertaking the journey. This form must be approved and authorized by the respective persons who must append their signatures thereto.
16.4 The person undertaking the journey must complete the form from ‘DATE’ to ‘ODOMETER READING END’ as well as the ‘MAKE OF VEHICLE’ and ‘ENGINE CAPACITY’.

16.5 Thereafter the form must be handed to the officer entrusted with making payments from the school fund account who will check the form for completeness and correctness and will calculate the amount to be paid by multiplying the ‘number of kilometres travelled’ by the ‘rate per kilometre’ and issue a cheque to the person concerned.

16.6 The ‘rate payable per kilometre’ must be determined by the school governing body. It is recommended that the prevailing official rates of transport be adopted.

16.7 The ‘Claim for Transport Form’ must be retained by the officer entrusted with the keeping of school fund records and the form must be used as the supporting voucher for the expenditure incurred.

16.8 The above directions will not apply in cases where taxis, mini buses, buses etc. are hired.

17. Disposal of school fund records
17.1 School fund accounting records shall be destroyed after expiry of the prescribed retention period. (Refer to Instruction 9.5)

17.2 The date of destruction is to be calculated from the date of the last entry in a respective financial year.

17.3 Records that may be destroyed in terms of Instruction 17.1 are to be disposed of as outlined in Instructions 6.25 (Recovery of Waste Paper).

2. It protects against deliberate wrong-doing and provides a written record for later reference.
3. As with No.2. It protects against wrong-doing and is permanent proof of payment.
4. A school can account for money spent by producing written proof in the form of cheques returned by the bank. These can be linked to entries in the payments cash book and entries on the duplicates of the bank deposit book.

5. School fund money was not provided for the school to make speculative investments. The Head of Department has to ensure that the money is not put at risk.

6. (i) Money should be banked on the day of receipt to minimise the risk to that money.
   (ii) Some payments are made late in the day. Also, many schools are not located conveniently near a bank and banking hours are sometimes limited. It is not economically reasonable to travel a long distance to bank a very limited amount of money.
   (iii) If this is a recurrent problem the principal should discuss it with the Superintendent of Education (Management). It may be necessary to write to the Head of Department setting out the details and requesting permission to deviate from the standing rule. No matter what the circumstances every effort should be made to bank monies as soon as possible after receipt.

7. Section 21 schools have greater control of their financial affairs. They deal directly with suppliers of goods and services and receive an annual monetary allocation as a lump-sum payment directly into their cheque accounts. Non-section 21 schools must still direct much of their financial dealings through the Department.

8. The audit has to be carried out by a person qualified to do so, and, if necessary, approved by the Department. Details of the annual audit have to be sent to the Department by the 30th of June every year. At any time the Head of Department can call for a special report and he/she may appoint an officer to investigate the administration of a school fund.

9. Many schools have prepared a standard form that has to be signed by the hirer and details the conditions under which the school premises may be used/hired. This form should bind the hirer to treat the premises with care and make good any damages. The imposition of a refundable deposit could be considered.

10. The main restriction is that the minors on the governing body cannot be involved in any contracts. As with all contracts sensible precautions must be taken to ensure that both sides clearly understand the terms and conditions and are capable of meeting their contractual obligations.
