1. Background

The emergence of the novel coronavirus has resulted in increased levels of uncertainty, loss of life and livelihoods in communities around the world. It has also been a source of trauma, fear, despair and isolation for children and their families. The impact of the virus has contributed to the many psycho-social issues that communities face. These include issues such as family and community violence, bullying, neglect and malnutrition, living in poverty, child headed households, chronic illness or having to deal with disabilities. These challenges are not only a challenge for a country's health and social system, but also a challenge for a country's education system .

In education the need to improve the psycho-social well-being of learners and educators has come to the fore as a result of the outbreak of the COVID-19 virus. What has become apparent is that in order to ensure that children's health, protection and psychological well-being are safeguarded, schools can no longer be just institutions of teaching and learning, but must also be centres of care and support. It is to this end KZNDOE has recognized that to address the psycho-social and health support needs of children, it must join hands with key stakeholders involved in addressing issues affecting children. The Department is committed to working collaboratively with all key stakeholders involved in child care, support and protection. Schools are encouraged to identify and work with their local network of support providers (local government departments, community or district organizations and non-governmental organisations) to assist them in their efforts to address the health, social, emotional and psychological support needs of children.

2. Purpose of this resource document

The purpose of this document is two-fold, namely to: -

- Outline the collaboration between Departments of Education, Health and Social Development in providing school psycho-social and health support services for learners.
- Provide a contact directory of critical support providers that schools can network with in their efforts to address the support needs of learners vulnerable to health, social and psychological challenges.

3. Definition of School Psycho-social and Health Support Services

The provision of School Health and Psycho-social Support services for learners is a programme grounded in the Integrated School Health Programme (ISHP). Whilst primarily it is the joint responsibility of the departments of Basic Education (DBE), Health (DOH) and Social Development (DSD), the government has recognised that successful implementation of the ISHP programme is reliant on the involvement of trade unions, the private sector, academic institutions and NGOs. The ISHP focus is the physical health , social and mental well-being of learners. It aims to improve learners' health and psycho-social well-being by reducing health barriers to learning so that learners can stay in school and perform to the best of their abilities. It covers areas such as Health Promotion, Health Screenings, Immunisation, Sexual and Reproductive Health, HIV and AIDS Life-Skills Education, Counselling and Social Services.

4. Roles and responsibilities of the different Departments (DOE, DOH & DSD)

4.1 Department of Education

The role of DBE is to provide health education and to ensure schools are clean and hygienic. Health education is incorporated into the school curriculum and provided through the Life Orientation learning area. The life skills teaching is supplemented with additional co-curricular/ school-based activities. Issues covered through Life Orientation and supplemented through co-curricular activities include:

- Nutrition and exercise • Personal and environmental hygiene • Chronic illnesses (including HIV and TB)
- Abuse (sexual, physical and emotional abuse, including bullying and violence) • Sexual and reproductive health • Menstruation • Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs) including HIV/AIDS • Male circumcision including Male Medical Circumcision (MMC) • Teenage pregnancy, Choice of Termination of Pregnancy (CTOP) • Prevention of mother to child transmission (PMTCT) • HIV Counselling and Testing (HCT) and stigma mitigation • Mental health issues including drug and substance abuse, depression, anxiety and suicide.

4.2 Department of Health

Whilst DBE plays a key role in creating an enabling environment (planning, managing and monitoring of the programme, facilitating access to schools and services) for the provision of the ISHP, DOH is responsible for provision of the package of school health services. These include;

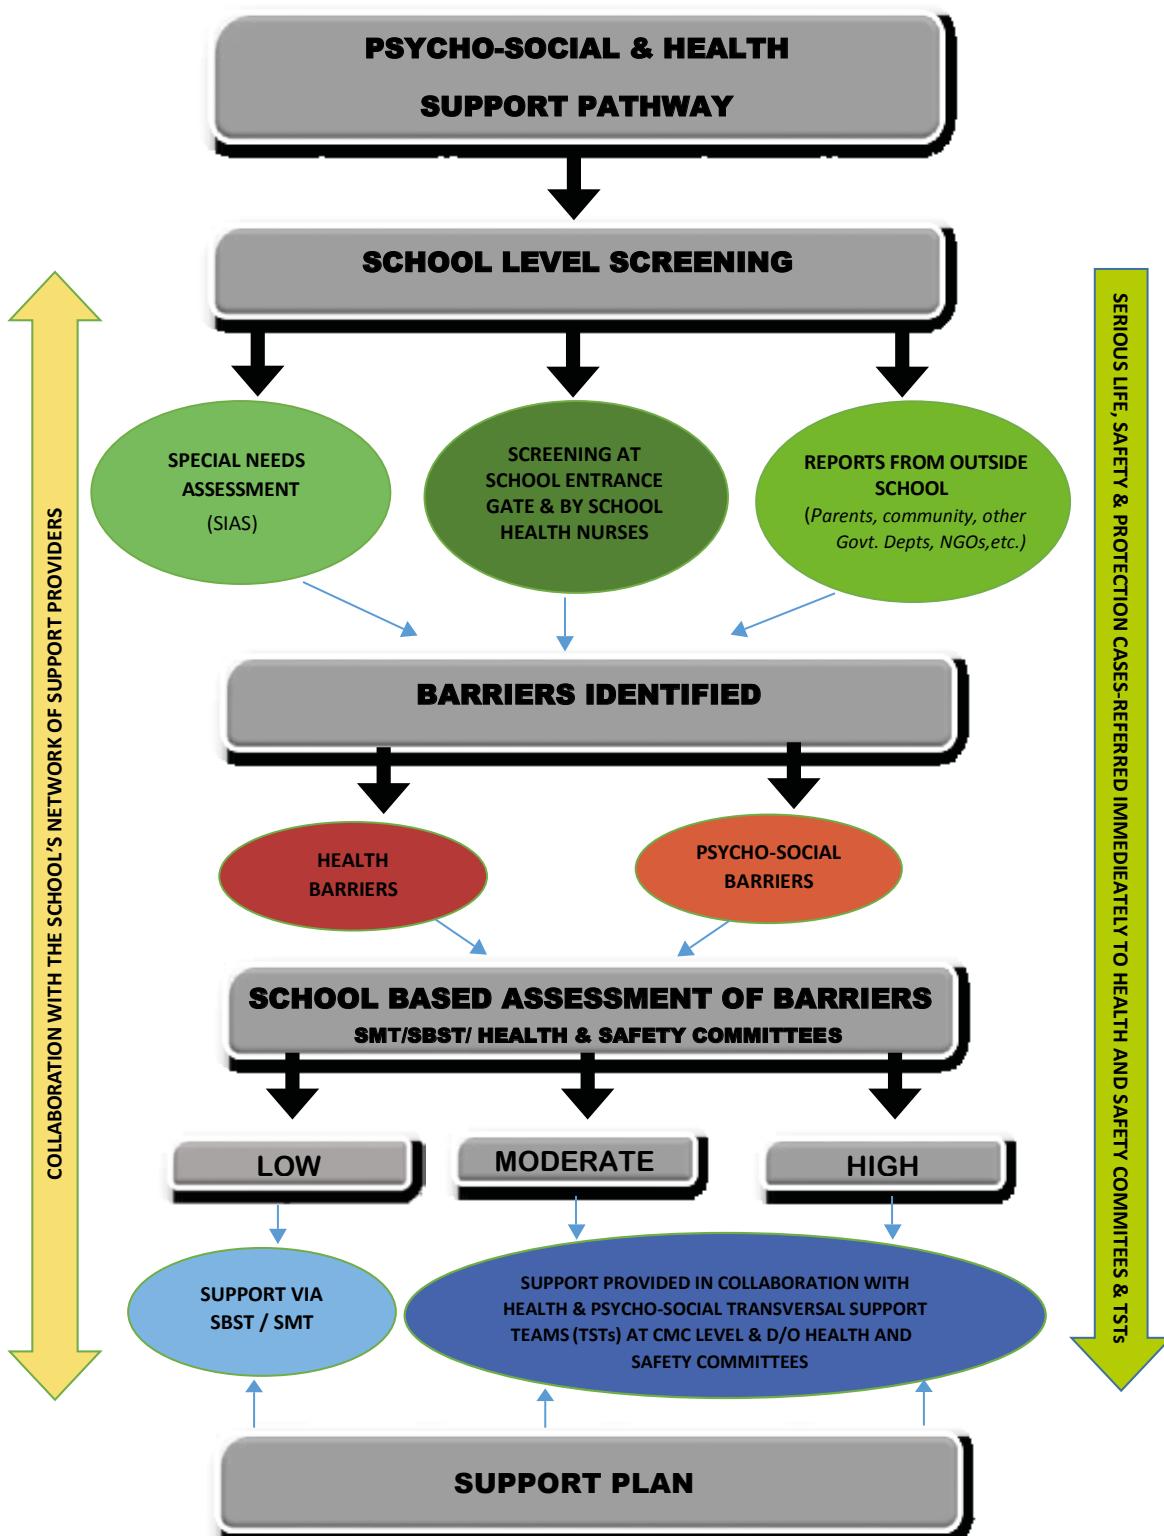

- (i) Health screenings
- (ii) On -site services — •Parasite control: Deworming and bilharzia control (where appropriate) •Immunisations Treatment of minor ailments especially treatment of skin conditions •Sexual and Reproductive Health Services for identified cases. These will focus on provision of dual protection (to prevent pregnancy and STIs including HIV infection) and provision of HCT.
- (iii) Environmental assessment, adequate water and sanitation, physical safety and issues related to food safety and suitability, including availability of first aid kits and these assessments are undertaken by Environmental Health Officers.
- (iv) Follow-up and referral services – where learners are identified as requiring health and other services that cannot be provided on-site through routine school health services, efforts must be made to ensure that learners access these services at the local clinic / hospital.

4.3 Department of Social Development

ISHP acknowledges that there are social determinants that negatively affect the health and development of children. These include issues such as poverty, orphaned children, child-headed households, food insecurity and malnutrition, including under and over-nutrition with related issues of stunting and obesity, the physical environment in which children live and study (exposure to open fires and kerosene). The role of DSD is to provide the necessary support to address these socio-economic issues that negatively impact on the health and development of children.

5. Referral pathways

The flow diagram below illustrates the referral pathways for identifying, assessing, supporting and referring learners who require additional health and psycho-social support. It is grounded in the DBE's Screening, Identification, Assessment and Support Strategy (SIAS).

6. Network of Support Providers

This section provides a contact directory for critical support providers that schools can network with in their efforts to address the support needs of learners vulnerable to health, social and psychological challenges.

6.2 Transversal Support Teams (TSTs) for Psycho-Social and Health Services for Learners

The government departments of Education, Health and Social Development have been identified via the integrated School Health Programme (ISHP) as key providers of psycho-social and health services for learners. The scope of work of these collaborative School Psycho-Social and Health Support teams include:

- Provision of awareness-raising and information-sharing programmes aimed at promoting psycho-social wellbeing and to reduce psycho-social distress.
- Provision of counselling, psychological and health services for the learners referred (DSD, DOH and DOE).
- Provision of health and psycho-social services for screened learners requiring further investigation (DOH).

Below are lists of contact persons for each education district from these government departments. Also included are NGOs that are established providers of psycho-social and health services in the various education districts. NGOs generally operate in specific areas and the availability of their programmes are often determined by the extent of donor funding. Consequently, the NGO list is not an exhaustive list. Schools and district offices are encouraged to continually add/or update the list with details of other local level support providers of psycho-social and health services.

6.6 Thuthuzela Care Centres (TCCs)

Thuthuzela Care Centres are one-stop facilities that have been introduced as a critical part of South Africa's anti-rape strategy, aiming to reduce secondary trauma for the victim, improve conviction rates and reduce the cycle time for finalising cases. Thuthuzela Care Centres are in operation in public hospitals in communities where the incidence of rape is particularly high.

TCCs provide medical assistance and are linked to sexual offences courts, which are staffed by prosecutors, social workers, investigating officers, magistrates, health professionals, NGOs and police, and located in close proximity to the centres. Hence providing comprehensive support for the victims in one facility.

7. Disclaimer

This resource directory is not a complete and detailed representation of all sector organizations offering psycho-social services in KZN, but provides a list of critical stakeholders involved in child care, safety and protection.

Whilst reasonable efforts have been made to compile a database that is accurate and up to date, cognisance must be taken of the fact that movement of staff happens within government departments and organisations, thus changes of contact persons listed in this document are bound to occur. Schools are encouraged to view this resource directory as a dynamic document that needs to be regularly updated.
