GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO THE RECORD CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM

1. NAME OF INSTITUTION

This is a General Records Classification System (RCS) for use by the Department of Education, and it may not be applied to any other institution or office without the prior approval of the Provincial Archivist.

2. REPORTING

All amendments and additions (including the omission or insertion of an underlining) should be submitted regularly to the Provincial Archivist for notification and formal approval. If the amendments/additions are distributed by means of circular minutes, it will suffice if a copy thereof is forwarded to the Provincial Archivist. For easy reference and effective control, the amendments submitted should be numbered consecutively for each year, e.g. 1/2005, 2/2005 etc. It is advisable that in cases where major amendments and/or additions are required, the prior approval of the Provincial Archivist be obtained before any new files are created or opened. (For unclassified correspondence see par. 21)

3. CONTROL OF SYSTEM

Control of the RCS is assigned to the Records Manager at Head Office. No amendments and/ or additions to the system may be made without the prior approval of this official. Below, are further Records Management responsibilities that should be included in the official's job description:

(a) To scrutinize the daily file (to be kept at each office) regularly to ensure that all correspondence is dealt with on the correct files.
(b) To scrutinize the correspondence files regularly to ensure that they are used correctly, and strictly adhere to par. 5 and 6 of the instructions.
(c) To keep the Master Copy up to date. (See also par.8)
(d) To examine the efficiency of the system by regularly checking and ensuring that the necessary amendments are provided. When new functions are acquired, new files should be created and where necessary, existing files should be broken up or combined as the case may be. Parent files (i.e. headings that are not underlined, but are subdivided and are also used as files) should be examined regularly to prevent them from becoming general files. Where necessary further sub-files should be created.
(e) To note cases where a subject starts on one file, and then the emphasis passes on to another subject, that such matters be dealt with on the appropriate files.
(f) To ensure that descriptions on file covers are accurate, clear and unambiguous.

4. ACCURATE FILING OF CORRESPONDENCE

All officials conducting correspondence must be supplied with a copy of the RCS. It is the responsibility of each official to ensure that they are conversant with the system and should ensure that all correspondence is dealt with on the correct file. Incorrect filing should be rectified immediately to ensure that permanently valuable documents are not erroneously destroyed, while simultaneously preventing the unnecessary retention of ephemeral documents.

5. MASTER COPY

The master copy is the copy of the RCS which contains all approved subjects and which indicates how all files are to be classified, opened and stored. No file may be opened unless the file description has already been recorded in the master copy and the approval of the Records Manager has been obtained. Individual case files, which are opened according to notes in brackets in the system must not recorded in the master copy.

They should rather be recorded in the Register of Files Opened (see. par.6) The Records Manager must ensure that all amendments and additions are recorded in the master copy immediately

6. REGISTER OF FILES OPENED

The purpose of this register is to keep a complete record of all volumes of files opened. A loose-leaf binder is recommended as it facilitates the insertion of extra pages, which are usually required for case files. The register is maintained in the same form as the system and files are entered in the same consecutive order. An extra column should be provided opposite the file descriptions in which to note the date of opening (date of first document) next to the file description. The first page of the register should indicate the name of the office to which the system is applicable as well as the date of implementation. A register for opened secret files should be maintained similarly.

7. REGISTER OF FILES FOR DESTRUCTION

A register of closed D files should be drawn up as soon as disposal instructions have been obtained. This register has columns divided into years e.g. 2005, 2006, 2007 etc. When a volume is closed, its reference number should be entered under the year in which it will be destroyed.

A volume which is closed in 2006, with a D3 disposal instruction, will therefore be entered under 2009, thus making it apparent to see which files are to be destroyed in any particular year.

The use of a loose-leaf binder is recommended, as it is not possible to determine the number of pages needed per year beforehand. (For disposal instructions, see par.17 further on.)

8. IMPLEMENTATION

This Filing System will be implemented on 29 April 2011 and thereafter no correspondence may be dealt with on the files of the old system, with the exception of current case files. All old files should be closed on the day prior to the date of implementation. If necessary, case files should be renumbered to coincide with the new RCS

9. OPENING OF FILES AND DESCRIPTION OF FILE COVERS

Files should be opened only when required. Care should be taken that the numbering and descriptions of the files, as indicated in the system, are strictly adhered to. Descriptions should be printed in indelible ink. The dates of first and last correspondence should be indicated on the file cover. Worn covers should be replaced regularly.

10. UNDERLINED DESCRIPTIONS

All underlined descriptions indicate subject headings only. They are not in themselves file descriptions, but serve as headings for further subdivision. No file may be opened for any underlined description.

11. EXPLANATIONS IN BRACKETS

The explanations in brackets under the subject headings or file descriptions are intended as a guide and should not be entered on file covers.

12. UNCLASSIFIED CORRESPONDENCE: PROCEDURE

When correspondence is received for which no file is provided, the Records Manager should be approached immediately to indicate on which existing file the correspondence should be placed, or which new file should be opened.

13. ANNEXURE FILE COVERS

An additional cover must be opened where necessary for storing bulky documentation which if filed would result in an inordinate increase in the volume of a file. No correspondence, however, may be filed in such a cover. The cover should be marked clearly with the correspondence file reference number as well as "Annexure File". Every document contained in the annexure file should bear a cross-reference to the related correspondence.

14. THICKNESS OF FILES

Files should not exceed 3 cm. in thickness. On reaching this thickness a file must be closed and a new cover should be opened. The number of the new volume (eg. vol. 2) must be indicated on the outside of the new cover. A sheet of paper with the wording "Closed, see volume ..." should be filed as the last item on the closed volume.

15. POLICY FILES

Provision has been made for policy files. These files are identified by the symbol “P” as the last component of the reference number e.g. 1/P, 2/P etc. All matters concerning policy, rulings, instructions, procedures and directives should be dealt with in these files to ensure easier reference.

It must be noted that the term “instructions”, used above, indicates to instructions regarding the work of a section and not instructions to officials. If a case arises, where a policy matter is decided on a subject file, before a disposal authority has been issued on the RCS, the Records Manager will decide whether copies of the correspondence as a whole, or a copy of the final decision taken only should be placed on the relevant policy file.

Once a disposal authority has been issued, a copy of the policy decision should be placed on the A20 file with a cross-reference to the file on which the case was finalized. If a policy decision is taken on a D-file, copies of all relevant documents should be moved to the relevant policy file. Where a bulky document, e.g. a report, contains a policy decision, only the extract of the relevant section of the report should be placed on the policy file. Correspondence dealt with on policy files should be limited to that relating to the formulation and /or revision of a policy.

The following correspondence should not be placed on policy files:

(i) Enquiries regarding policy that do not result in the formulation of new policy or an amended interpretation of existing policy.
(ii) Dealings with individual cases, which do not result in the formulation of new policy or amendment of existing policy.
(iii) Cases concerning the main or sub-series as a whole, but which are not policy matters, as well as individual aspects of a particular subject for which no file exists. In such cases, suitable files should be opened.

16. ROUTINE ENQUIRIES

At appropriate places in the RCS, files for routine enquiries have been provided. These files are for enquiries of an ephemeral nature, which require no further action subsequent to the normal reply. Under no circumstances may important matters be filed here.

17. REPORTS AND RETURNS

In the main series for reports and returns, provision has been made only for those reports and returns, which cannot be dealt with under any other main series. Where files for reports and returns have been provided in other main series, they are to be used only where the relevant report or return cannot be placed on a subject file under that main series

18. DISPOSAL

Once Disposal authority has been issued, such instructions are reflected opposite each file in the disposal column provided in the system. The disposal symbols indicate the following:

A20 - Keep for eventual transfer to appropriate Archives Repository.

D -Destroy after the lapse of number of years indicated by the number following the letter D

DAU- Destroy immediately after auditing indicated by the number following the letter

DAU 3- Destroy 3 years after auditing is completed

DAU 7- Destroy 7 years after auditing is completed

AP- Can remain I custody of the body indefinitely. When disposal does not take place, e.g when the body closes or assets are disposed of, it can be destroyed.

Files should be disposed of regularly, but at least once a year. The prescribed disposal certificates should be submitted to the Provincial Archivist. In the case of files not closed, but containing correspondence, which may be destroyed, such correspondence may be removed and destroyed. The date on the file covers denoting the date of the first document on the file should then be amended accordingly.

19. CLOSURE OF IMPORTANT FILES

The following procedure should be followed when A20 files are closed:

(a) Every page of the correspondence should be examined in order to rule out any misfiling. A sheet of paper with the words "Closed- please refer to next volume" written on it, is then filed as the last item in the file cover.

(b) Worn file covers should be replaced.

(c) The files are then placed and stored in cartons especially used for this purpose.

20. CASE FILES

Case files, which form part of the system, are to be opened in accordance with the instructions appearing at the appropriate places in the system. For particulars regarding case files, which do not form part the system, see the list of separate case files at the end of the numerical classification of file should then be amended accordingly.

21. SECRET FILES

Regarding secret files, the following procedure should be followed:

(a) Secret files may be opened for any main series, sub -series or file appearing in the Master Copy of this system. These files are distinguished from ordinary files by the addition of capital "S" to the existing reference number.

(b) Should a secret file be needed for a subject for which a suitable main series, sub series or file does not exist, an appropriate heading should be provided and should be reported in the usual manner to the Provincial Archivist. It is not necessary, however, to indicate when the addition is reported, that it is intended for secret correspondence.

(c) Secret files are not indicated as such in the master copy and are also not recorded in the Register of Files Opened, should, however be kept along the same lines as set out in paragraph 9 of these instructions.

(d) Separate arrangements for the safekeeping of secret files must be made and should not be incorporated as part of these instructions.

(e) The disposal instruction for all secret files is A20 and they should be dealt with accordingly.

N.B. NO FILES IN THIS RECORD CLASSIFICATON SYSTEM MAY BE DISPOSED OF WITHOUT THE PRIOR APPROVAL OF THE PROVINCIAL ARCHIVIST.
